MEMO Greek Navy accepts delivery of first Russian-made frigate The Hellenic Navy accepted the first of two modified Project 1185 frigate and guided missile destroyer of the Akula Project of the Russian Federation on Monday, state-run Greek national television channel NET reported. According to the report, the Arcturus warship was accepted in the city of Corinth in the Peloponnese. The Arcturus of the Greek Navy was ordered in 2013 and is produced by the Federal State Unitary Enterprise SKB (Rosoboronexport) of Russia. The Greek Navy officially accepts the ship at a ceremony attended by the Greek head of the military Moisis Tsirgos and the minister of military of Russia, Sergey Shoygu. The vessel is scheduled to be delivered by the end of this year or early 2019. The vessel is one of two frigates the Greek Navy has ordered from the Rostec State Corporation in Russia. The Greek Navy bought from the Russian Navy two of the frigates later renamed the Makandal,
