Firefighter takes out 3 armed armed robber who demanded gun at gunpoint HILLSBORO, N.J. (AP) - A New Jersey firefighter was fired for taking the gun out of an armed robber's hand and firing at the suspect, who then took his own life, while the firefighter remained on the line. Both Hillsboro firefighters are suspended without pay, pending the outcome of the investigation, Mayor Peter Helm is tells NJ.com. Helm is says the incident was reported as an assault on an officer, but Hillsboro police say the suspect, 52-year-old John Claspell, pulled a gun from a holster on his hip and tried to rob a man at an apartment complex in the city at about 2 a.m. Saturday. Hillsboro's Lt. Kevin Reulack says Claspell pointed the gun at the man's face and demanded his money, but the man pulled away. The fire department says Claspell then struggled with the firefighter before taking the gun. The firefighter used his 9 mm handgun and shot Claspell twice, then called for the fire department medics. The suspect collapsed at the scene. Hillsboro paramedics pronounced Claspell dead at the scene. Eversource, which provides the city with electricity, told NJ.com the company's monitoring system "alerted to an outage" between 1:43 and 1:55 a.m., but there is no indication of any problem with any power lines. Eversource referred questions about the incident to the city. Police and the Hillsboro Fire Department are investigating the shooting. Copyright 2014 The Associated Press. All rights reserved.
