The short film included on this dvd release "Hotel Chevalier" intended to be viewed before the main feature. - BACKGROUND - (texts & interviews + more/original format). Leave a message for The Hot Dog King. over a year ago.. the short film which was included in the DVD box set of Darjeeling Limited. Good question. I never really considered this before. When it comes to actually looking at that barcode, what do you see? It looks like a camera to me, and I think it probably is a camera. So that's the first thing that my subconscious is sending me. So I actually have to decode that, which is kind of mind bending, because normally if I see an embedded camera, it's because I'm on some private surveillance software where I'm deliberately enabling things to do that. But it's not because I'm just blind. You know, I'm not looking for it because I'm just blind. I'm looking for it because I want to see what's going on. And the first question I'm asking is what's behind the camera, and it is a camera. So the camera has obviously been activated because it's lighting up. And that's actually something the camera didn't have earlier. Now it also has a thermal sensor on the top. And the sensor is obviously set to infrared. So it's able to look at the camera and the thermal part of the barcode and decode and know what it is. So it is like an embodied camera

Instead of fleeing, they take refuge in the hotel, where the police stay out of their room.. But also a young boy and his grandmother have taken refuge there..
