The other day I asked myself a question: what is the equivalent in Django of a template tag? I know there is something like this out there, but I can't find it. An example of what I am looking for is: `{{ archive_list(site_lists) }}` This will return a list of lists (from the site_list template. The result would be something like: `[[2], [1], [3]]` (where [2] is the first list, [1] is the second list, etc.) I also need to filter the lists. For example, maybe there is a list which is inactive. So the template will return [2], [1] as the above, but the list [3] would be excluded
