The MiG-29 Fulcrum is a Russian ground-attack aircraft, designed by Mikoyan and produced by MIG (Russian acronym for "mikoyan gurevich" - "ground-attack aircraft designed by mikoyan"), the Soviet Union's research and design bureau for ground-attack aircraft. The Fulcrum incorporates numerous improvements on the MiG-23 family of platforms, especially the MiG-29, the indigenous fighter design that inspired it. Production of the Fulcrum began in 2001, with MiG-21s and MiG-23s being declared "obsolete" by the military's General Staff. The first prototypes flew in October of that year, with preliminary testing beginning in 2003, and production beginning in 2004. MiG-29 Fulcrum Simulation (Plane Games & Simulations) Release Date: September 16, 2009 / Score: 9.1/10 (PC, XBOX 360) . MiG-29 Fulcrum is a game about a player who takes to the skies in MiG-29 Fulcrum (MiG-29 in Russian) a 9th-generation Russian-built multi-role fighter aircraft. The core of the gameplay is destruction of numerous targets on the map using concentrated fire from a large number of SA-3 decoy units. The game simulates manoeuvring of all aircraft as realistically as possible, despite using simplified system of aircraft manoeuvring and a lack of "airship" system for aerial refueling. The Russian Fighter Maneuvering Simulator (RFMS) was developed by Mirnolet and published by Digital Wave. RFMS is a modification of the existing Russian Fighter Maneuvering Simulator (RFMS). It was released on December 14, 2013, and has been re-released for Windows on January 1, 2015. It is available for free download, using a Windows installer and a standalone executable. RFMS contains all of the content of the original RFMS, but also includes new features and enhancements such as new cockpits, aircraft, weapons, maps, and scenarios.
