Not many people can say that they have been able to achieve a complex lead generation process with an automated system but that is exactly what the Lazy 8 credit program offers! Credit Score Gets Better w/ Lazy 8 Credit Clocking in at just over 4GB, it contains more than 400 audio files and 30 video episodes. Be prepared to have a few days or weeks of your life to get through it all! The credit interview process is considerably shorter and easier than the credit scoring process with credit scores. The credit score (FSB scale) and creditworthiness (PA-Scale) reflect the potential risk in your loans and credit cards. The creditworthiness shows if you have a good chance to save money or get the loan. The credit interview process includes: – Finding and selecting a credit card: You must find the credit card that fits you. Before you get a credit card, you have to determine your credit limit, your interest rate and if a penalty fee is charged. After you get the card, you have to use it several times. With this you are making a model for the credit scoring. A credit score is not a general appraisal of your creditworthiness. It's more accurate to say if you are a risk for lending money. – Calculating a credit score: For a credit score you have to determine: – Your credit rating: Your credit rating represents your history of borrowing. A positive credit rating indicates that you are likely to pay back your debts. The credit rating is the most important factor in calculating your credit score. – Financial needs: The more you are able to repay your debts, the higher the credit rating and credit score. Also you are likely to get a lower interest rate with a good credit rating. By determining the financial needs and how to pay back your debts, you are also finding the most efficient model for the credit scoring. – Evaluation of your debt: Your credit rating will determine how much of your loan you can afford, and
