Visit their web site at www.advanced3d.com. Author statement: My name is Steve and I created this software called ZOrderMap. I was excited and over came with a little anxiety to do something different. Besides being good software the only reason I named it ZOrderMap is because there were some pain and need in the software world to bring a life saving set of tools. This is not yet another folder organizing, find and sort type application. In the way that Microsoft made it easy to access and share pictures, videos, music and other downloaded media. One could search for a file, find the file and see all the folders in one place and be able to get to the folders in way other applications could not. I ended up creating a plugin for 3D Studio MAX and one for Power3D. They are not free applications however the creation of plugins was a exercise that changed how I looked at the software world and I still have not stopped creating plugins for other software. This tools help build a file organization for your media files. Author statement: This is not a new application. This is an extension of an existing application. Both of them are existing extensions for photo sharing applications. ZOrderMap is a plugin for 3D Studio MAX that adds a set of features into 3D Studio MAX that 3D photo sharing applications lack. So ZOrderMap is an extension for both 3D Studio MAX and Power3D. Author statement: This is a plugin for both, not yet a standalone application for Windows. ZOrderMap.Power3D is a plugin for 3D Studio MAX and Power3D. ZOrderMap.3DSMAX is an extension for 3D Studio MAX. You can visit my website for a list of plugins and a demo. I am planning to add a Mac version, Linux version, iPhone version, Android version, Windows Phone version, Blackberry version and more soon. The Mac version will have a different interface. Author statement: Now 3D Studio MAX is available for Windows, Linux and Mac. So the plugin for 3D Studio MAX for Mac will also work on Windows and Linux. Author statement: I have ported the plugin from Linux to Windows. It
