I have created a new repository for the website that has a bunch of files that we need to compile for the website, and they are on another server. I have a new file in this sub-repo called "queue.targets", and in that file, I have the following: This is allowing me to build the web application for my computer. However, now I need to be able to build this on the actual web server that is hosting the website. To do this, I added the following to my "Properties" of the MyWebApp.csproj file: When I run this, I see the following error: Error 1 The specified path, file name, or both are too long. The fully qualified file name must be less than 260 characters, and the directory name must be less than 248 characters. It is exactly as it says, and any ideas on how to solve this? A: I was able to figure this out, thanks to the following post: One problem that I faced was that when I would try to delete the file, it would error out because of the file being open in Visual Studio. Here is the command I used to change the permissions so that I could delete the file: chmod +x "D:\websites\we
