This database has some table schemas like users, user_roles, roles, user_groups, group_members, host, hostgroup and user_home. The users table has a primary key id and some other fields like name, password, mail, auto, last_login, status. Next, I created a new database named root on Linux and Windows, then I modified the user privilege and created a new database schema named root using Navicat. I named the tables and fields in the root database as follows: root.users (id, name, password, mail, status) root.user_roles (id, user_id, role) root.user_groups (id, user_id, group_id) root.group_members (group_id, user_id) root.host (ip_addr,...) root.hostgroup (host_id, hostgroup) root.user_home (user_id, host_id) Also I created a new database named root on Mac.
