Ringtone Creator 3 is a free application developed by HB Media Ltd for the Mac platform which allows you to create new ringtones for your mobile phone. Although the programming is pretty easy to understand, this application comes with a few basic options available to configure before creating new ringtones from the source files you have on your hard drives. The most obvious – and it's no wonder either – is a set of default ringtones to use at start-up time, which is quite handy. Just select the rings you want and press the "Create Ringtone" button. You can also specify the repetition time, as well as the number of the silent periods between two consecutive ringtones. Also, the voices of the created ringtones are customizable, so the app allows you to specify the speaker of the ringtone. You can also save your newly created ringtone to your mobile phone or directly to your desktop, so you won't have to export the item from your computer system before using it, but keep in mind that it will be available only locally. Bravo! is an excellent application that allows you to create personalized, animated presentations for your mobile phone. Although it's a bit tricky to use at first, Bravo! is very easy to customize once you get used to the idea of playing around with all the text, shapes and symbols. You need to start by selecting the theme you want to use, play the presentation and click the "Create Ringtone" button. This will open a box where you can edit the presentation once again before saving it to your mobile device. You can create animated highlights with the help of a couple of simple features that come with Bravo!. The first one allows you to create a simple pause between two presentations, while the second one will automatically move a selected segment to the current time. There are also a couple of useful features to help you create the best presentations for your phone. The coolest among those is a feature that can automatically replace the current voice with another one. Just simply double-click on the shape you want to change and the replacement voice will be substituted to the one you clicked. Another handy option will be ready to split your presentation into two, so you can easily publish two ringtones separately. Another useful option will be the integration with the SkyDrive cloud storage system which means that you can create presentations out of files stored on your computer and all your mobile phone will have
