Furthermore, the program is not really all that responsive, so the download progress is very slow. Additionally, the list of videos to download is woefully unorganized, and I have to scroll for ages to find a specific video. Moreover, the video files that are generated during the download process are quite large. Not only does this limit the amount of content I can download, but it also takes up a lot of disk space. In fact, by the time I finally quit the program, my hard drive
