US East 1 users: we will be performing the needed scheduled maintenance for the Database Server. As a result, some of you will experience slow network access and delayed application response times while using our programs. We expect the maintenance to last for less than 10 minutes and we will continue to monitor the outage until it has ended.

1.5 (2011-09-30): The Release Notes version 1.5.1.0 has been published. The most important change is that all programs are now available for MacOS X 10.5.7 and MacOS X 10.6. MacOS X 10.5.7 has been officially announced to be EOL and this is the final MacOS X version that the MySQL Solutions Group can support. MacOS X 10.6 is now the latest version of MacOS X and there is now only a single set of MacOS X supported versions. The MySQL Solutions Group will support MacOS X 10.6. As the Release Notes have always said, these changes do not affect the release of the program. You will not have to re-download the programs. We would like to thank all of our customers and users of our programs.

1.4 (2011-09-29): The Release Notes version 1.4.0.0 has been published. The most important change is that the SQL Injection Prevention Code that is installed with the application is now made available in a version that does not depend on the older version of IIS. This will be more stable and it should make the program more robust. We have also changed the software installer to be more user
