Some of the weekly KPMG public service awards were presented at the Stockport-based Water Company's annual general meeting in London today. Community services manager Roz Cawood was chosen from KPMG Business Advisory Group and became the first person to receive a Public Sector Leadership Award in recognition of her "outstanding contribution to the improvement of community services in the Manchester/Bury and Bury areas." Cawood spearheaded a project to improve community services in Bury and Manchester and was instrumental in establishing the new Public Health Committee in her area. She has helped advise on budgeting and service improvements to her local area and has been appointed the Manchester and Bury's Health Authority Community Services Monitor by the Chief Executive of NHS Bury and Central Manchester NHS Foundation Trust. Cawood said: "It is a great honour to be chosen as the first recipient of this award. This is a recognition of my contribution to the improving community services in Manchester and Bury and I am thrilled to be receiving the award as the work I have done with the PSC ICT and ESRC have improved the lives of thousands of people by improving the services that are delivered in the community. "It is particularly rewarding to be recognised by colleagues in other parts of the Manchester and Bury area. I am looking forward to supporting the award winning people in each of the public sector organisations and I am very excited to contribute to the improvements to 09e8f5149f

Tea party With the bitter divide between Tea Party-backed candidates and more moderate Republicans in the September congressional primaries set to get the party more engaged in the general election, the question for Democrats remains what to do with the minority party. The Democratic Congressional Campaign Committee (DCCC), with the most money for the Democrats from its supporters in the first fundraising quarter, is doing its part to get more moderate candidates across the country on the November ballot, hoping to broaden their appeal to voters in many states. But much of the party's urgency to do so this election season reflects the party's desire to hold onto seats the GOP holds in the House, where Democrats hold a 236-seat majority. Yet that may not be as easy as Democrats hope. In some of the most competitive districts in the country, a small group of challengers may split the vote enough to swing the race in the Republicans' favor. "There are a handful of seats we're watching closely,
