Whats new in this version. on your general form. In the past, here is the answer from a forum website, which I think is the right one. Another way is to add the eyes. Makes no sense to me, as if you were to add eyes, it would only give you a second pair of eyes and no second face. I think the solution is to use the eye option to add a rotation to the right eye, and add a rotation to the left eye if you want. Or use the eye option to add a rotation to both eyes, and then move the eyes around until you have an look you like. This still looks messed up but I am pretty new at this so I was hoping to get some help. Hopefully this isn't too bad but here it is. I have a problem with the eyes not looking right. The right eye is way up but the mouth is down and the left eye is way up but the mouth is down and the two eyes look straight. I can't seem to figure out why. I am really frustrated. It is so hard to do this to begin
