===== KEYMACRO is a Windows NT system service that is responsible for managing the system keyboard configuration. It stores the keymapping settings in the Registry, which can be read and written. It also loads an existing keymap from the file system, or creates a new one. KeyMACRO is used by native applications that manipulate the keyboard, such as the Microsoft Windows keyboard driver. There are two main types of files used by KeyMACRO: the user.keymap (extension.cmap) and the system.keymap (extension.skmap). The system.keymap file is an extension of the text file format, and can be loaded from within a text editor such as Notepad. The user.keymap file is saved as an extension of the binary file format, and can be opened with a binary editor such as IExplore or a hex editor such as Winhex.
Parameters: ===== This service can be started automatically on the system at system boot-up. It is not started manually. Microsoft Office 97 Sounds [Mac/Win]

Microsoft Office 97 Sounds is a handy utility designed for those who are looking for a way to enhance the experience of using Microsoft's widely known Office 97 suite of applications. The sounds included in this package are real-time sounds that can be activated at any time during the use of one of the supported apps. Some of the actions that trigger sounds are opening menus, sending email messages, zooming in or out a document, using the scroll bars and many others. The system notifications and reminders will also receive sound alerts from the package. The sounds are different for each of the four Office apps supported by this package and they will be assigned to the specific actions they were configured for. When looking for a solution to modify the sounds of a certain application, users can't go wrong by installing the Microsoft Office 97 Sounds package and then switching to the Sounds Preferences window (press the Windows key + E). All of the sounds are shown in this window and you can easily select the sounds that you would like to hear. Once you have chosen the sounds that you prefer, you can save them to the program's configuration file. While you are using the selected application, the sounds will be played back in real time. There are no special instructions that have to be followed in order to install Microsoft Office 97 Sounds. Instead, the installation of the package is very easy and you will be provided with a couple of necessary components that are needed to make the sounds work on the system. The collection of sounds that come with Microsoft Office 97 Sounds is not only big but it is also diverse. Over 30 sounds can be heard in the archive and they are all WAV files, ranging in the length of from 2 to 21 minutes. The package also comes with a couple of prerequisite components that have to be installed before the sounds can be used with the system. It is possible to modify the sounds that you hear by using the Sounds Preferences window. At this point, the Sounds Preferences window will show all of the sounds included in the package and you can select the ones that you want to hear. For the selected sound, you can save it to the config file. Screenshot License Shareware Price Free File Size 1.65 MB Developer Mikhail Kuznetsov Publisher Development company Reviews WOW! treatment by photocatalytic disinfection method. The photocatalytic disinfection method has been studied as an alternative for treating textile dye effluent. The microbial population and the removal efficiencies of the method were examined under different conditions, using the dyeing effluent of a printed textile which was subjected to 5 treatment steps with a commercial solution of sodium hydroxide, followed by several days of sedimentation. Both the bacterial population and the color of the dyeing effluent was maintained at a satisfactory level throughout the 5 treatment steps. The disinfection efficiencies, however, were low, and gradually decreased, indicating that the dyes had been removed from the dyeing effluent. The invention relates to a method for the synthesis of interferon. Human alpha interferon is produced by transforming human diploid fibroblasts with a retrovirus which contains the human alpha interferon gene. See, e.g., Laskey et al., Proc. Nat. Acad. Sci. (U.S.A.) 68:2807 (1971). Interferon-alpha is currently manufactured on a large scale by transforming human diploid cells (e.g., human fibroblasts) with an interferon-alpha containing retroviral expression vector. A typical recombinant retroviral vector contains two selectable markers and expresses a retrovirus structural protein, the gag protein and the env protein,
