With the increase of Netflix, Hulu, Prime Video, Amazon, HBO NOW and any other streaming services, we think that these are the best for showing us the quality of our streaming sources. Channels such as Netflix or Hulu present us with the most popular web series. The latter, for example, is the home of Westworld and the most recent seasons of Game of Thrones. But what do we think of the quality of these sources? Answering this question takes a little more time and effort, as the website and app of such services are designed for frequent use. Thus, we need to find reliable information about the quality of our streamed material on these platforms. If you think that your streaming service is bad or unpredictable, and you would like to have an objective, clear, correct and informative view about how your content is stored on the network, here is the solution for you. Here are five sites and Apps that will help you take a better and more objective view of the quality of the content you consume: Best Free Streaming Sites: 1) Mobcracker Mobcracker, now at version 3.0, is an interesting free and highly customizable app that provides a detailed report for your Netflix subscriptions.
