Field of the Invention The present invention generally relates to a method of manufacturing a capacitor using a ferroelectric film having a perovskite structure, a capacitor, an electronic apparatus and a hybrid apparatus. 2. Description of the Related Art The recent progress in semiconductor devices such as LSI, VLSI and ULSI and fine patterned devices and film patterning techniques, is remarkable. With the progress in such devices and film patterning techniques, an increase in frequency of operation and decrease in electric power are in progress, which requires a capacitor having a lower electric resistance and higher capacitance. A conventional metal-oxide-metal (MOM) type capacitor may include a dielectric layer, a lower electrode, an upper electrode, a protective film and an overcoat film or an organic protective film. An example of such a capacitor may be provided with a Cu electrode and a Pt electrode as the lower electrode and the upper electrode, and a ferroelectric body as the dielectric layer. In this example, the ferroelectric body is formed by electroforming. An example of such a capacitor may be provided 09e8f5149f
