======================== * `Proxies' are fake DLLs that might look exactly like the originals but can easily be unregistered or, in the case of Winzip, even patched. They are designed to improve system performance and to hide the fact that the original DLLs are not installed. * "Just works" - no installation required. This is a built-in feature. * No additional, unnecessary registry entries. * The original DLLs are not modified or removed, not even temporarily. * Checksums are kept for each file. * Files are not kept after registration. * Runs on all editions of Windows. * Supports "Add/Remove Programs" and Windows "Programs and Features". * Can register or unregister files even if they are in use. * Can be easily configured by using the INI-files. * Very light on resources. * Runs in the background. * Compatible with 64-bit Windows (WOW64). * Supports all signed binaries (DLLs, OCXs and EXEs) * Supports both 32-bit and 64-bit Windows. * Supports multiple CPU cores and multiple processors. * Use `RegSvrHelper -h` for details. * Use `RegSvrHelper -t` to generate usage statistics. What's New in the?

This application provides an alternative to RegSvr32 and will register or unregister DLL files from a simple interface. It is great for developers, as well as home users, who, for various reasons, need an additional DLL to run third-party programs. Our conclusion is that RegSvrHelper is a great utility that allows users to register or unregister DLL files without the burden of command-prompt operation. It is simple to use, does not require installation and will not add any new entries to the Windows registry. It also does not require any additional runtime software to accomplish its purpose. What's new in this version: This version has no new features. Applies to: Microsoft Windows XP SP2, SP3, SP4 Downloading Information RegSvrHelper can be downloaded from the developer's site for $9.95. Reviews Great helper!!! Reviewer: t-emiksa Date: 2011-03-14 It's not the best utility, but its a good helper, easy to use. It works great for every version of windows, xp, 2000,2003,vista, windows 7 and windows 2008, you can just type on the run or save it to a shortcut and use it. Works great. I have been using RegSvrHelper for years with no problems. It is free and gives a good price. I use it to register drivers and DLL's for my games that I make. It works great and I had not problems. I use it on Windows XP, Windows 7, Windows Vista and Windows 8. I recommend it.Q: What can be said about the closure of $\{(x_n) \subset \mathbb{R}: \lim_{n\to\infty} x_n = 0\}$ in $\mathbb{R}$? The question is: Let X be the closure of $\{(x_n) \subset \mathbb{R}: \lim_{n\to\infty} x_n = 0\}$ in $\mathbb{R}$ (That is, $\{(x_n) \subset \mathbb{R}: \lim_{n\to\infty} x_n = 0\}$ is equal to X). Then, what can be said about the closure of X in $\mathbb{R}$? My attempt: By definition of the closure, we have $\overline{X} \subset \overline{\{(x_n) \subset \mathbb{R}: \lim_{n\to\infty} x_n = 0\}} = X$. The question asks us to compute $\overline{
