- State informations - Time started A: KupTimer is a "true" time manager. No more time is lost with missing time stamps, or outdated time values. Keep track of uptime, event logs, system logs and task manager, etc. It does not display timestamps by default, however. To display timestamps, which works with the menu item "Display time in status window" and the menu item "Show time in status window", you need to set the key "ShowWindow" to 2 (0 = hide and 1 = show). If you want to open KupTimer instead of the KupTimer TrayIcon, you can add the trayicon to the startmenu, to create a new Startup shortcut. With this MS-QR-code, you can get KupTimer also on Google Play. Get on Google Play: If you use another QR-code scanner, please refer to the instructions on our online manual. This photo taken on June 27, 2019 shows debris along the shore of an oil spill site in the Gulf of Mexico off the coast of Louisiana. — REUTERS WASHINGTON (Reuters) - BP PLC and Russia's largest oil company, Rosneft, have agreed to keep under 100,000 barrels (7 million gallons) of oil spilling in the Gulf of Mexico a month, according to a document the companies released on Tuesday. BP and Rosneft agreed on a cap for the leaking well in a global spill "contract" released on Tuesday. It is not yet clear whether the company's newly named Chief Executive Officer, Bob Dudley, will stick with the deal when he meets on Thursday with U.S. President Donald Trump. The latest leak from the well, now in its fourth month, has been capped in recent weeks, but has continued to gush between an estimated 5,000 and 19,000 barrels (284,000 to 1 million gallons) of oil a day. A source with knowledge of the agreement said BP and Rosneft, which operates the Kara Sea field off Russia's White Sea where the well was drilled, agreed to a "target" of 100,000 barrels a month. The target could be exceeded at any time, though BP Chief Executive
