References Category:Automotive accessory brands Category:Toyota Category:Lexus Finding the right home sweet home I know I should write about something else, but I'm under a pressure to get my book finished by tomorrow and this is something I'm so anxious about. So this is me asking for help and it's hard to say a good word about my family. Although we all love them, I feel like I'm being looked at suspiciously. At first I thought it's because I'm the oldest, but now I think we have a little too much intelligence in our blood and people seem to think that somehow this is their business. On the contrary, I'm trying to do my best for them and they are all doing their best for me. We moved from another apartment earlier this year and I was very happy to finally get to move to my own place. The first thing I did was cleaning the place, which I always do. I often thought about my dear parents and I got stuck in my system of planning how to live in a place for decades. First I thought I should make some of the bedrooms look nice, but I'm glad I didn't. One of the first things I saw while I was cleaning the house was my old friend: a crumpled box. Yes, I'm still keeping my own copy of my old VHS copy of movies and games. One day I opened that box, turned on the VHS, which was fine, and I realized that my books, my toys, and my comics were still there! It made me feel happy and nostalgic, even if it was just for a couple of hours. It looked so simple and innocent, it touched me so much. It's so beautiful when I want to open a drawer or a cabinet and discover something. Yes, of course, there are still boxes at my mother's home, but they are full of paperwork and we don't need those anymore. I'm glad I brought my copy of comic books to 82138339de
