File Switcher is a simple and practical plugin which allows you to switch between opened documents in Notepad++. This is a cross-platform plugin, it should work on Windows, macOS, and Linux systems. However, it is only able to work under the Windows OS. This plugin was designed to offer a simple way to navigate between the active open files, and also search for the ones you've selected. With it installed, you can even include the file name, path, and optionally the path's components in your search. On a Windows system, it is supported by the default Notepad++ configuration. If you have portable Notepad++ configured in Desktop view, use a different tab to launch it if you want to install the plugin. If the word processor was already open, you'll have to close it to use File Switcher. You can also choose to use Search, and before using it, ask the tool to open all the existing documents for better precision. The plugin is completely free, and its files come in a portable package, so you can install it even on an external drive, hard drive, or USB flash drive. Getting started First, install File Switcher. Once you have extracted the files, create a directory, for instance, "C:\FilesSwitcher". Open Notepad++ from the Start menu and navigate to "Plugins" from the File menu. Select the Folder. Drag all the File Switcher files into the specified directory. Once done, File Switcher should appear in the list. Click on the File Switcher name to launch the plugin. It should appear in the list. Navigate to "Plugins" from the File menu, right click the Document Switcher and select "Configure". In the new configuration window, select a user interface. File Switcher will then appear with a UI specific to this option. For instance, in the default text view, you can optionally find the File Switcher icon in the top right. If you want it to appear in a toolbar, go for the "Text" configuration. Other customization options In the configuration window, you will also be able to set up the behavior of the search functionality. This is the logical place to decide whether you want to open files or just focus on the search. To ask the plugin to only open files and exclude paths, select "Document". If you want to find the files in only the current view, switch 09e8f5149f
