potential threats currently running on your computer. And since most of the viruses are signed up for your desktop, it should be only a matter of time before you see them. Its interface lets you easily customize notifications with settings such as default notification period, popup, and the sound to play. It comes with a built-in help, and you can use it to force the window to hide. Besides standard functionality, it can kill processes, and can start programs. One of the alternatives that lets you kill processes is PMW (Process Manager for Windows), but it doesn't show all running processes, nor provide the option to permanently kill windows. Apart from the ability to kill processes, and to start programs, the program allows you to hide specific windows, and minimize them to the system tray. This is done from the toolbar menu, and you can choose to open the menu in a separate window. Unlike the previous program, you have the possibility to add a hotkey to the system menu, and the option to make all notifications appear in the system tray area. NOTE: this software has been tested on Windows XP. In case of Windows Vista or Windows 7 the program might not work perfectly. All in all, we can say that Fantastisk Detektorer is a very useful program for letting you quickly see all threats currently running on your computer.
