Judaism, or more precisely, the religion that is known as Judaism, has a rich and complex history with numerous festivals, holidays, and observances. Jewish people, who can trace their ancestry all the way back to the ancient kingdoms of Israel, are so big and varied that their religion and culture contains so many interesting elements. The Jewish calendar is very important to the Jewish religion. In fact, every Jew has many religious and holy traditions. The Jewish calendar, however, is connected with some of the most important and common festivals throughout history. It is therefore very important to know about this very interesting religious calendar. Since Judaism is a spiritual and religious movement, most of its followers are not wealthy. They tend to have low wages and many of them are considered poor. One would think that the Jewish religion is rich and splendid, but this is not necessarily true. Judaism has a lot of culture and traditions and most people still can understand them because of their history. Most of the Jews' materials and resources were taken from the Arab world. Nowadays, the Israelites have their own country and are allowed to work on it, but most of them still live in poverty and very low standard of living. Some live in the desert; others live in places like Hebron, Jerusalem and in the West Bank and Gaza. Since the existence of Israel, the Jews are more visible and have more than other religions. Israelites are very religious, and they do a lot of things and they go a lot of places in order to have a good relationship with God. Everything they do is done with the belief that God will help them and bless them. Most of the time, they tend to face death, but they are on the right path and have a good relationship with God. They pray and they find a sense of peace by doing those things. Since Judaism is a religion that follows a lot of myths and is rich in culture, most of the Jewish people have many traditions and habits. These traditions and customs are very important to them and tend to be very unique. Each Jew should do things the way his religion has instructed him, and this is the only time he should follow what his religion tells him. In fact, most of these traditions are so old that they have not changed or become weaker
