MediaElch is meant to assist users in managing their multimedia library. The application allows loading custom images for the movies. Version: 1.5
 Platform: Windows x32, Windows x64, Windows x86 (32 bits / 64 bits) MediaElch is a powerful multimedia organizer. The application can manage all video files that users may find on the internet. One of the program's most unique aspects is that it provides a thorough scraper for online video websites. Each video is fully described, including the quality, length, thumbnail, and user rating. This way, users can sort their video by popularity, aspect ratio, year of release, or language. The quality of each file is displayed right in the file manager. This allows users to save directly from the program without having to first download the clip. The clip's thumbnails are also displayed, while its cover art is given in a convenient list. The cover art can be displayed on the working window, too. Not only is the video's title given, but also the original title as well as the screen name that is shared on the website. MediaElch also features a comprehensive crawler. The tool can also automatically search the video sharing sites for files of any type, not just videos. Strong video library, basic file manager The program has a familiar look, though it does not offer a polished user interface. Instead, the layout is simple and users can use the file manager for browsing. A list of all the files is shown when the program starts and is quite complete. However, users can organize their library by selecting the categories. For example, a list of all the video formats is available, so users can organize their files by region. The included clip's scraper also features support for a wide range of websites, including YouTube, Vimeo, Dailymotion, Blip.tv, Metacafe, and Votvid. Users can search the aforementioned sites by title, length, user rating, or even, aspect ratio. One of the strongest aspects of the program is the support it offers to the multimedia sharing websites. The scraper supports a wide range of video hosting sites and all users may be able to find what they are looking for. Scrape parameters are numerous and one can search the aforementioned sites for anything from title to overview or certification. MediaElch is a powerful multimedia organizer. The application can manage all video files that users may find on the internet.

What's New In MediaElch?

A video manager, based on iTunes, with many useful functions. Game a dark GUI Morphos Games, a developer based in Toronto, has released a new Facebook game called, "Dinosaur Wars." The game, which has been released in a closed beta, is being developed for Android and Facebook users. The game is described as an epic prehistoric adventure that combines a dynamic turn-based strategy with a "hands-on" fight system. Users are in command of a single dinosaur squad, and their job is to hunt other dinosaurs, capture them and take them to their home. There, they can be outfitted with equipment, and sold to other teams. The game is basically two games in one. The first is the action game, where the dinosaur can be used to attack other dinosaurs, and where he can be outfitted with special weapons and equipment. The second is the match-based strategy game, where the dinosaur must hunt other dinosaurs, and take them to the enemy. If there were a dinosaur, it would look a lot like this. Features:

- Fight and hunt: Win matches and take down other dinosaurs
- Collect equipment: Equip your dinosaur to dominate your opponents
- Team up and fight as a team: Join a clan and combine your dinos to overcome enemies!
- Challenge your friends: Play against friends and see how you measure up in the arena!
- Battle other clans: Invite your friends and challenge them to epic battles
- Play on a new map: Unlock more than 50 different prehistoric maps to play on
- Level up: Gain new powers and acquire new equipment
- Caravan to the Arena: Access the Arena and fight others in epic battles
- Build a Dino-mansion:
- Easy to learn but hard to master: Quick tutorials for every dinosaur and every weapon
- Tons of different dinosaurs to build, train, upgrade and customize
- Three different endgame maps and unlock new dinosaurs, equipment and support
- Voiceovers with over 50 unique lines
- Four different classes: Acrobat, Builder, Hunter and Scientist
- Six distinct games with over 50 different quests and different game mechanics
- Weekly challenges with over 200 quests
- Daily reward points that can be spent on a variety of rewards
- Uncover the "secret" locations of previous weekly quests
- General improvements and fixes
- Integration with Facebook game mechanics
- Compatible with both iPhone and Android devices
- Features Facebook™ game mechanics
- Two game modes: Casual and Arcade
- Walk the dinosaur through a series of events, making sure that he progresses through each level in the game
- Team up with other dinosaurs
- Three different types of Dino-machines: Normal, Turbo and Overdrive
- Customize each Dino's class, skills, speed, special abilities and complementary
