If you were to describe me to a potential employer, would you say that I am:- Quite detail-oriented..Q: iOS retain count and memory management I have a class name Person, which is subclass of NSObject. Now, Person has a property age. Initially I give 0 to age for all persons (e.g there is only one person). I have used retain count = 1 as a property in Person Class. So when I try to see all the objects array in that array I find that all the objects have retain count = 1. Now, consider the situation when I'm releasing objects from array and init person 1 with age = 13. Now, the init person 1 become the second object in array and all the objects retain count value is 2. Now when I released that second object, it is not releasing the first object as expected. Instead, I get the following crash.  -[Person release]: message sent to deallocated instance 0x1dcd60  -[Person initWithName:dwell:age:age:]: message sent to deallocated instance 0x1dcd60
