Sync Service (I am using this service for replicating from my machine to the Azure file repository). The problem that I am having is when I want to get the latest package from VCS from upstream repository. Because the package is already downloaded on the file server when I run the Build, the Build process fails because the downloads from the synchronization service are not finished. My proposed solution is to have a different Build Agent and deploy the package with this agent. This is what I have done, however this does not give me the behavior that I want (that is, I want to wait for the download to complete before getting the latest package). I was thinking that it could be possible to invoke the Package inside a PowerShell script. This is what I have done:

```
Invoke-SqlPackage -ServerInstance "sqlserver:1433;database=MyDB;integratedSecurity=true"
-Database "MyDB" -Username "myUser"
-Password "myPassword" -DeploymentProvider
```
