The objective of this study was to determine the prevalence, age distribution, gestation at onset, severity and most frequent underlying cause of diabetes in pregnancy. A retrospective analysis of 500 diabetes in pregnancy cases from St. Joseph's Hospital and Medical Center in Phoenix, Arizona, was conducted. Clinical data were collected from pertinent hospital records and from the interviews with women who were interviewed by phone. The medical records were also reviewed for the fetal outcomes. Among the 500 pregnancies with diabetes, 349 (69%) were complete and 161 (31%) were incomplete. Gestational diabetes was observed in 231 (46%) pregnancies, and 110 (22%) were mild diabetes. But that pipeline has been virtually clogged for far too long, MSU President Lou Anna Simon said in a news conference Wednesday morning. In the annual "State of MSU" address, Simon called for an aggressive recruitment plan aimed at boosting enrollment among students of color. "As the United States continues to struggle with racial inequality and other forms of discrimination, the challenges to make progress are greater," Simon said. "We will rise to the challenge." The number is up from $600,000 in 2013. This year, black and Latinx students are out of reach for the majority of MSU, Simon said. Only 14% of black students attend MSU, while 14% of Latino students get a degree from the college. The fact that the majority of black and Latino students left MSU without graduating puts a huge dent in the pipeline of young people from those communities that might have gone on to MSU. "We are creating an environment at our university that is ideal for our students to succeed," Simon said. The president spoke on days after four white students accused members of the MSU hockey team of making racist and sexist comments on social media, causing an uproar across the country. The team had an undefeated season going into Friday's game against Denver, which it lost 5-1. Simon said she wanted to make clear that she was talking about the school at large, not the hockey team. "We certainly don't want to jump to conclusions in terms of whether those individuals were representative of individuals on our campus or any of our other campuses," Simon said. "One of the things that I would say is, this isn't just about the athletic department. It's about 3e33713323
