TakeSnapshot Tutorial

ScreenCapture.NET: Screen Shot 1) Go to Start > Control Panel > Hardware and Sound > Device Manager (or by going to Start > Control Panel > Hardware and Sound > Device Manager) to open the Device Manager. 2) On the left side menu, open View By > Select the tab below View (perhaps you can see the name of the tab in the left side menu by the "View" name)? 3) Under the tab of View By, on the center side menu, select By List, then expand the + button to open the child menu, select By Device. 4) Double-click on your mouse left button on "Basic Information" (and make sure that all the other icons under the Basic Information are selected too), then select OK. 5) Double-click on "Size" then select "Caption" then press Enter button. 6) A new window should be opened, and the name of the device on your PC which you want to screenshot will be shown here. Note the screenshot of this device will be saved into the "Current Shot" directory. If you want to save the screenshot into another directory, double-click on the corresponding arrow of "Save Directory" and choose the new directory. 7) You can see in the center of the new window that the device which we want to screenshot is "com1". 8) Click on "OK", then drag-and-drop the first screenshot to the desktop. 9) Click on "OK" then you will see "Screenshot taken!" on the top-center of your desktop. You also can see the "Current Shot" directory in the Desktop. 10) Now, with the help of the "Take Snapshot" tutorial, click on the "File" menu item in the top-center of your desktop. 11) Select "Print" and then click on "Options..." button. 12) In the window, select "With Screenshots" and click on "OK". 13) Now, check that "Screenshot printing options" is selected. 14

ScreenHunter Pro is a task manager program. Working with ScreenHunter Pro is very easy. On the top of your screen, there is a big panel that represents Task bar. Task bar is divided into several sections. On the left section of the task bar you can see your most recently used programs with their status, which applications are running. If you want to monitor, for example your CPU usage while watching a movie, you can put the movie to the task tray. ScreenHunter Pro provides a possibility to save snapshots of open windows and desktops of your computer into a new image file. You can customize this feature as a task manager and as a desktop recorder. For example, there are tabs to put your screens into webcam screen shot format, screenshot to your desktop, PNG with transparent background, grab your desktop, full screen, or your current desktop with sound. Every step of capture process from choosing and capturing a screen can be visualized in real time.

You can easily edit captured snapshots. You can crop, resize, rotate captured screen image or even add text or arrows, lines or rectangles. Every captured image is saved with filename and preview window. You can edit it and choose some special settings. You can convert captured images

When you want to create a tutorial, using a feature-packed capturing software can help you save both time and energy. Such an exhaustive utility is ScreenHunter Pro. Supports several types of captures As soon as you run this app, a very compact window is displayed, thus making it possible for you to start capturing either a still image or a video with only a single mouse click. You can also record your webcam stream, provided a compatible device is connected to the PC, or you can pick a color from your screen and copy its code to the clipboard. A very nifty function allows you to draw on top of everything shown on your screen, then capture the result using the hotkey you yourself defined (alternatively, you can use the default one). Includes a powerful image editor Another useful feature of ScreenHunter Pro is that you can enhance the snapshot you have taken without needing to open a third-party application.

You can select areas of the image, crop it or resize it as you see fit, as well as insert numerous types of objects then adjust some of their settings.

Due to the integrated preview, you can always tell if the result matches your expectations or if you would rather discard the changes and try again. Export results to various formats

Depending on the type of capture you performed, you can export the file to an image (JPEG, PNG, PDF, GIF, BMP) or to a video (MP4 or FLV). The filename and the target folders can be modified to your liking, along with the video quality and frame rate. Display all 9 photos in a random order - 2 in one row, 3 in one column,
