The quake, which struck at 11:23 a.m. (0923 GMT), was felt in Jeddah, Mecca, Medina, and other cities, but no damage was reported. The U.S. Geological Survey said it was a shallow earthquake, with a depth of eight kilometers (five miles). "No damage has been reported so far, but we are monitoring the situation," a Jeddah civil defense official said. Authorities in Jeddah said the quake originated in Mecca. The June 25, 2016, tremor also hit Mecca. The Jeddah civil defense department said Sunday the 6.4-magnitude earthquake in Mecca is a further reminder for Saudi officials to have adequate emergency plans in place. "This is what we expected," said Ahmed al-Sabee, the civil defense department head in Mecca, who added that officials are planning for possible earthquakes. "We had no choice but to have a disaster plan in place." "The earthquake did not
