keymacro is a very simple, lightweight keyboard macro program. You enter a macro of your choice in a Windows editor-like text editor, which will be executed when pressing a hotkey of your choice. There is no additional configuration needed, and you can easily use it with any hotkey combination you want. Every keystroke and each selected word will be executed sequentially. You can modify the macro by adding or removing commands, or replace a text in the macro with another one. You can also choose to execute the last macro you entered or to use the last macro you've edited. The program's options panel allows you to choose how the macro will be triggered and also gives you the possibility to set the hotkey to which the program listens to the user. The macro editor has two modes of operation: Default mode or complete mode. In the Default mode the program automatically generates a macro for every selected text, in complete mode you must choose which text you want to be substituted with the macro in order to define the shortcut. To make this process easier you can use the right arrow key (backwards or forwards) to select the text you want to be substituted with the macro. Once you've selected the text, use the down arrow key to choose what you want to replace it with. Another important aspect of the program is that it doesn't allow the user to select a text twice. Other features worth mentioning are a special key with which you can edit the line in which the macro is currently stored and a special option which allows you to hide/show the line in which the macro is stored by using the Alt key. Another useful feature is the ability to see the macro you've defined. KEYMACRO Works with: Windows-compatible programs There is no need to install any additional software or use any special features of your computer. Simplicity and high performance KEYMACRO is a light-weight program that doesn't use any additional resources. It uses just a very low amount of CPU and system memory. It doesn't modify any system settings or create any files on the disk. And yet, you get the best performance of your computer. Uniform interface You get a very simple, user-friendly interface that resembles the interface of other Windows programs. Lightweight and free of bloatware The application has a single file of 23 KB and a simple configuration window. It does not come packed with any additional utilities. 80eaf3aba8 miniPlayer is a small media player, which is extremely easy to use and can be a real good support to any home or office desktop. The widget supports a variety of media formats and can be used to play almost any audio or video files, without having to open the respective programs. The widget frame is packed with several useful functions that make it easy for all types of users to use. It can be moved around the screen with the mouse, and it comes with several built-in ways to control the audio playback, including pause, play the next or previous track, adjust the volume level, etc. miniPlayer will not waste your computer's resources and works fine even on old PCs or laptops, with no speed loss or CPU lag. Some useful features provided by the Widget Preferences panel are available, such as the ability to enable or disable the frame to stay on top or below all the other windows, to enable or disable it to ignore mouse events, to disable dragging, and so on. The main window can be resized from a specified size and the frame can be disabled, so you can even put it on the desktop and it will not look cluttered. Many people have already liked and commented this amazing media player. It features a button that you can use to launch a web browser to the selected FTP server, from which you can easily download files to the local computer. No username or password is required. The FTP/SFTP/SSH client is designed to be very easy to use and it is small in size. Thus, there is no need to clutter your desktop with unnecessary icons and tools. However, it has a Help and Report dialog that includes a comprehensive Help file and a version information dialog. The FTP/SSH client can be set to launch automatically on system startup and it does not require a restart of the computer to work correctly. Besides being able to synchronize files from remote hosts, the FTP/SFTP/SSH client is also able to sync file paths and folders from your local computer with remote ones. It automatically copies all the items from the local computer to the remote one.
