“HyperMotion Technology’s” secret sauce is packed into a new “Exhilarating Gameplay” mode, which is available to selected players using a new “Exhilarating Gameplay” badge. It’s an evolving practice where you run through a series of authentic gameplay challenges, replicating real-life football situations. The key objective is to score as many goals as possible, which requires players to seek to avoid the biggest threats on the pitch – whether they are players, the goalkeeper or defenders – to be successful. “HyperMotion Technology” is the new engine that drives the “Exhilarating Gameplay” mode and beyond. What players see and how the game plays for them will be completely unique and shaped by the player data that goes into the engine. The features of “HyperMotion Technology” in FIFA 22 have been designed to bring the excitement of real-life football to the game while increasing the realism of the player and ball physics. EA SPORTS has gone one step further to help the player continue to perform when they are shown what their opponents are about to do. “HyperMotion Technology” will identify when your teammates are going to be in position to receive the ball and when they are going to play a specific pass, allowing you to adjust your approach to help your teammate and protect yourself from potential danger. “HyperMotion Technology” features in FIFA 22, including new and improved strategies and auditions, making every match more unpredictable. A new “Ultimate Team” function will allow players to create their dream team by matching talented footballers with those who have the “Exhilarating Gameplay” badge. Each badge represents a new season of gameplay, where you can improve your team by playing challenging challenges. You can also bring your mates along and earn badges together, too. Just one of the challenges you can experience in “Exhilarating Gameplay” mode and others in FIFA 22 is “Unlocked”, which includes new and improved player auditions, and the “Round of 16” where all 16 teams in the 2018 FIFA World Cup take part in regular gameplay challenges. The annual Pro Draft mode returns, and you can decide which teams you want to build your squad from to match your style and preferences. Developed by a dedicated core team at the newly opened EA DICE Development Studio

What's new in Fifa 22:

- Revel in the in-depth technical improvements of FIFA 22 all thanks to "HyperMotion Technology," which are added to every segment of gameplay. Players react faster on the ball, tougher players react faster to the opposition for pace off the ball, attacking crosses are more effective when players make the run without losing too much pace, and much more.

- Get into the game this FIFA with a whole year's worth of content including all the teams, players and stadiums.
