New Features in FIFA 22 – OFFICIAL RELEASE ON SEPTEMBER 28th Players can now control the game using the A.I. at any time in the match. Player control can be adjusted when the match is paused or in live action. Player control is disabled in the pre-game pause. With the new option to control the game using your A.I. at any time and the ability to toggle off and on player control in a single player, you can experiment with new tactics at any point in the match. A team can use a strategy where the team has virtually the entire match to develop an idea and implement it if they have the full offensive and defensive control with the A.I. Fans can also participate on-the-fly in the game. New Game Control introduces revolutionary live action commenting to the FUT experience. Fans can create and contribute their own on-screen commentary for the match. A broadcaster can turn commentary on and off using the new camera icon on the pause screen. Fans can follow their favorite broadcaster and contribute to the FUT commentary. TRANSFERS The transfer procedure has been streamlined. New, efficient players’ search results will feature players from the most popular leagues in the world. Your potential transfer destinations can also be personalized based on your preferred transfer market. All transfers now take place within FIFA Hub, where all your details for the transfer, including documents and passports, are stored. The new transfer interface is more dynamic, with the Player Guide listing the latest news and analysis, while we provide the ability to create a transfer request list of players you would like to pursue in the transfer market. PRE-SEASON CAREER The pre-season career mode is revamped with new modes, details and improvements to the overall pacing of the mode. This new mode is both a standalone experience as well as an extension of Ultimate Team. In pre-season, you will play a series of matches at home and abroad. As a pre-season player, you’ll have four seasons to develop your squad. The start of the season is now more exciting as you are given a chance to start your career with a young squad. This offers a fresh
