They were diagnosed with SVA, their initial SCT findings on MRI also suggested that their facial nerve was in continuity, and their facial nerve had a hypoechoic lesion after surgery. Though SVA is generally considered as a disease that occurs in postmenopausal women, it may also develop in younger adults, and usually is seen in postmenopausal women in their fifties and sixties \[[@B20]\]. It is thought to be related to vascular disease, but a definite cause has not been identified.

Peripheral facial nerve palsy is often unilateral, and is suspected to be caused by a sudden decrease of blood flow to the nerve because of vasospasm or vasculitis \[[@B21]\]. While ischemic disease is a factor that can cause SVA, facial by suggesting that the “Wii U is dead” narrative is just a result of the “Nintendo math” not being right, we are yet to see Nintendo’s Wii U hardware sales decline to the point of being a commercial failure. Nintendo is still the dominant force in the industry with a 95.4% share, a 23.2% market share growth over the last year, and an average consumer spending on gaming hardware (per adult, per generation) of $90.12 over the past year. Despite the sometimes hostile stance taken by some during a generation of PC gaming (spreading the early adoption of PCs, the success of PC games on the “Steam store” platform, and various other changes to the industry), Nintendo’s success is without doubt. Considering the persistent modern phenomenon of “cross-platform” games, Nintendo not only has an advantage in terms of the availability of their own game systems (as well as the opportunity to sell their hardware on “someone else”
