

“The depth and emotion that the game will bring to all fans this year is thanks to our fans, from the many fans who participated in the development process to the many fans who continue to play on FIFA.com and whose feedback helped us make FIFA the best game it can be,” said FIFA President Gianni Infantino. “From the start, our goal has been to give gamers a more nuanced understanding of football. This year’s iteration of FIFA takes players beyond the pure skill-based approach of the past, and helps to create an immersive, authentic experience through the brand-new ‘HyperMotion Technology.’ ” The best-selling, long-running series of soccer games is now played by more than 250 million people around the world and has continually raised the bar for innovation and gameplay, introducing game-changing features including television gaming and a variety of the most intelligent coaching tools in any sports title. Today, FIFA 20 is already rated 4.5/5 stars on both Metacritic and GameSpot, and is the best-selling sports game of all time with more than 11 million copies sold. It was also recognized with five awards at the prestigious DICE Awards: Best Sports Game, Best Visual Design, Best Game Innovation, Best Gameplay, and Best Overall Game. In addition to sweeping gameplay changes, FIFA 20 is also the first to include the complete EFL, Ligue 1, Ligue 2 and UEFA Pro License for coaches, which are available to buy in FIFA Ultimate Team using in-game currency. FIFA 20 is available now in more than 150 countries, and the FIFA 20 Global Series kicks-off today on FIFA.com with daily offers. FIFA Franchise Now Proving Successful as a Turnkey Solution for Global Sports Entertainment As one of the first launch titles in its new format, FIFA World Cup™ Edition, a standalone FIFA World Cup™ video game developed by Kylotonn, just hit shelves in 26 countries.
