Microsoft Office 2013 Keygen Full Version. exe. 2014 XFORCE: Product Design..During a Senate hearing on Thursday, Steve Bannon, the former head of the ultra-conservative Breitbart News and a key adviser to Donald Trump, called the president's claims of innocence about his conversation with fired FBI Director James Comey "a monumental f----- lie." In response, a man shouted at Bannon, saying he should be ashamed of himself for blaming the president. In response, Bannon said "Go f----- yourself," the latest in a series of contentious exchanges between Bannon and the special counsel Robert Mueller's team. According to a report published by the Guardian, Mueller's team has prepared a series of sensitive documents for the senators, including a 29-page memo that not only criticizes Bannon for his racist and anti-Semitic statements, but also describes him as "explosive," with the potential to "damage the administration," according to the report. Bannon's comments at the Senate hearing, in which he defended his vision for the Trump presidency and called Comey "the most biased person against him in American history," quickly became a national flashpoint. Trump's statements to Comey, as described in the memo, are said to include Comey asking the president to intervene in the FBI investigation into the Clinton email scandal. The Washington Post reported that one of the memos purportedly includes the claim that Comey asked the president to help "lift the cloud" of the investigation into his campaign's possible ties to Russia. Comey was fired by Trump last month following the FBI director's highly charged testimony before Congress. Meanwhile, senators have become increasingly incensed by Trump's repeated claims of innocence regarding his discussions with Comey, including a recent sit-down interview with NBC News' Lester Holt. Republicans are increasingly frustrated that they are unable to gain access to these memos from Mueller, who has recommended a series of indictments against campaign officials including former national security adviser Michael Flynn and former Trump campaign manager Paul Manafort. In response, the Republicans on the Senate Intelligence Committee threatened to hold the Justice Department in contempt of Congress, and demanded that the department hand over the memos to Congress.
